System Features

The Gilcrease Museum is one of the country's best facilities for the preservation and study of American art and history. The museum draws thousands of visitors from around the world to Tulsa for a glimpse into the past.

- A high-definition recording system in the Thomas Gilcrease Jr. Auditorium allows museum officials to record content from the video system for archiving and distributing DVDs to organizations utilizing the space
- A 55" interactive display is used for scheduling and collaboration between the exhibit design team members
- Two HD recording systems were provided so that integrated PTZ cameras in the rooms can record and archive presentations, and a 21" confidence monitor provides a preview of the recorded content
